LONDON.—The way in which all political and public values have been upset in Finland by her defeat in two successive wars is well illustrated by the recent history of Mrs. Hela Wuolijoki. She is now a woman of 50 or 60 and is one of the most outstanding of all Finnish personalities.

Born in Estonia and married to a Swedish sawmill proprietor, she quickly assumed direction of the sawmill. Subsequently she became a pianist and was heard in Europe.

Churchill works had considerable success over Europe. Currently one of them is being screened in Hollywood.

Swedish Minister

Sees Expansion Trade Between Three Countries

Per Wikman, Ottawa, Sweden minister to Canada, arrived in Edmonton Tuesday to speak at an evening meeting of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Macdonald Hotel.

Resident Consular Officers

Provincial and civic dignitaries, and prominent Swedish residents of Edmonton will be among the special guests who have been invited to attend the dinner.

Trade Between Canada, the United States and Sweden is being developed, but to date has not reached a very large volume, Mr. Wikman stated.

There were good outlets for Canadian goods in Sweden, he said.

There was no unemployment in Sweden, he added, because of the very large number of demands for civilian goods, and also to the large amount of exports being shipped from Sweden to other European countries.

In addition to addressing the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce he will speak at the meeting of the Institute of International Affairs, Edmonton branch. His subject will be "Sweden and the Post War World."

BREAK IN POWER LINE DELAYS PUBLICATION OF THE BULLETIN

This afternoon's edition of The Edmonton Bulletin was delayed as a result of circumstances over which this newspaper had no control.

Just at press time there was a failure in the city power line outside the plant.

This occasioned a protracted delay before the power line was repaired and power restored in order to permit the press to run.

The Bulletin regrets extremely the delay in providing its readers with news. Everything possible was done to expedite printing and delivery.

Nazi Leaders Branded "Murderers, Robbers"

By DANIEL DE LUCE

NUERNBERG, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The 20 once-mighty Nazi leaders on trial for their lives before an international tribunal were excoriated in the name of the British Commonwealth of Nations as "murderers, robbers, traitors, personally and individually accountable for breaking the peace."

OPINION THE BRITISH case against Hermann Goering, Rudolf Hess, Joachim von Ribbentrop and their fellow members of the failed clique, Sir Hartley Shawcross, attorney general of the United Kingdom, said that the defendants had plotted Germany into aggression, plunged the world into an appalling costly war.

"These men were not mere willing tools," Sir Hartley said. "They were the main support of Hitler's build-up into the position of power he occupied. They are the men who initiated and planned, perhaps conceived and certainly executed the acts of aggression made in Hitler's name."

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S 3000-word indictment was a brilliant citation of proof that the accused were guilty of crimes against the peace. The United States has concluded its recommendations on the first of "five other indictments."

Bracken Blasts "Secret" Working Of Government

TORONTO, Dec. 4.—(CP)—John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader, said last night a clear-cut reconstruction program and order-in-council government.

"WHAT IS NEEDED is for the government to shake off its lingering war mentality and get its thinking on a new condition of peace. The federal opposition leader said in an address to the House of Commons that the Canadian Progressive Conservative Association.

"The government's defensive parliament as a 'growth from centuries of experience' said that the Canadian people were not a matter for commendation.

"WITH ITS LOAD of tradition it is allowing itself to become a slow-motion machine of inertia and outmoded conventions and is being used by its present bosses to cause their dictatorship collapse."

Mr. Bracken criticized the government's international outlook, its trade policies and entry into the fields of private business. He was outspoken in his criticism of the delay in completing the transition from war to peace.

The government had promised full production, full employment, a high standard of living and the preservation of private enterprise, it had failed in all four respects.

NEEDED GOODS were scarce and the government was not doing enough to get them.

There was no strike and more were threatening to strike.

The government has no adequate labor policy to prevent industrial action.

Production Is Real Wealth

All wealth comes from the land or from the sea. It is produced only by work, by the manual labor of men or by power controlling machines. The more work efficiently done, the greater is the real wealth of the community.

Such wealth is in many forms—food, clothing, modern houses, fine schools, churches, transportation and every service or article or utility essential to civilized living. These make up the substance of real wealth. The abundant production of these things measures the prosperity of the nation and of the individual.

This real wealth should not be confused, as Mr. Bailey confuses it in his current budget, with the symbols of wealth such as coins, paper money, bank bookkeeping entries and bonds, etc. Without an abundance of production, these symbols serve to useful purpose. They mean nothing and are worth nothing.

We must think in terms of productive reality before the country can achieve economic success.

Essential to the distribution of the fruits of abundant production are parity prices, just minimum wage laws, family allowances, a shorter work week, tax-free overtime pay and the raising of the exemption on income taxes. These things are complementary to production. They translate the real wealth of production into a higher living standard for Canadians people.

The present tax laws are deadening the incentive to work. They are slowing up production. They are lowering the living standards of Canadians.

Productivity depends upon the opportunities created by government for the expansion of private industry. And yet private enterprise cannot accomplish everything. It cannot, for instance, produce modern low-rental houses, the need of 80 per cent of all Canadians. Only the interest-free funds of the Bank of Canada can make these homes possible, with minimum loss, under present circumstances.

There is a close connection between the operation of private enterprise and government enterprise aimed immediately and urgently at the increase of PRODUCTION. Only this can solve our most critical present war problems.

Two British Soldiers Murdered in Germany

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE, Dec. 4.—(Reuters)—British troops were warned today to be guard against attacks by Germans, following the murder of two British soldiers and the wounding of a third in the British zone.

THE 1200 servicemen in the British army of the Rhine are to be accompanied by an armed escort as well as a driver when travelling and will be quartered in guarded premises.

The warning said troops will use personal weapons if attacked by Germans or if they are threatened if they cannot otherwise overcome or prevent violent crime or sabotage.

"During the winter, conditions for German troops are likely to be made by food and fuel shortages," the official warning said.

It is expected that the British headquarters will be in danger of attack by a large number of people. The greatest danger will be of attacks on isolated personnel whether on foot or in a vehicle.

Premier Says Parley "Slow" On Vital Needs

"It is hard," said Premier Ernest Manning at a press conference Tuesday morning, "to tell people who are waiting for homes to live in that the Dominion-provincial conference is making progress toward a solution of their problems, as long as the conference keeps talking of generalities without getting down to cases."

IT WAS THE PREMIER'S official statement on the meeting of the co-ordinating committee of which he is a member and from which he returned Monday morning. Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of economic affairs, and J. F. Percival, deputy provincial treasurer, are still in Ottawa, preparing data for the co-ordinating committee when it gathers again on Jan. 28. The committee's function is to co-ordinate different provincial proposals, and to this extent some progress has been made by clearing up a number of important points, the premier said, and presenting the Dominion government with a clearer understanding of the province's needs and problems.

"MY CHIEF CRITICISM," he said, "is the slowness with which the conference approaches the really vital problems. We must soon have a definite policy of action, for it is increasingly hard to explain to the public that the discussion of generalities is important. However necessary a clear understanding of these generalities may be, I feel there are some problems that should be attacked immediately and a solution hastened."

Greek Elections On March 31 Next

ATHENS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Premier Themistoklis Sophoulis said last week Greek elections will be held next March 31. He previously had been scheduled for Jan. 28. But the foreign office had suggested they be held next March. Foreign Minister Jojo Sophoulis said 800 Allied and U.S. military observers would arrive in Athens "shortly" to supervise the elections.

ROYAL BANK APPOINTMENTS

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice President and General Manager of The Royal Bank of Canada, whose appointment as Executive Vice President is announced.

Appointments Announced By Royal Bank of Canada

The appointment of Sydney G. Dobson as Executive Vice President of The Royal Bank of Canada was announced by the Board of Directors today. The board also announced the appointment of Burnham L. Mitchell as Director and Vice President and James Muir as Assistant General Manager.

Mr. Dobson, who has been General Manager of the Royal Bank since 1934, first entered the banking business in his native town of Sydney, N.S., as a junior in the local branch. In the ensuing years he gained a comprehensive knowledge of Canadian banking and conditions through service from Halifax to Vancouver. In 1919 he assumed his first branch management at Sydney, N.S. Later he became Assistant Manager of Montreal Branch, Manager at Vancouver, and Acting Supervisor at Winnipeg. In 1919 he was promoted to General Inspector at Montreal. Mr. Dobson's appointment as Assistant General Manager followed in 1922 and in 1934 he was made General Manager. He became a Director of the bank in 1930 and Vice President three years later. Mr. Dobson served as President of the Canadian Bankers' Association in 1937-38.

Burnham L. Mitchell, Toronto, newly appointed Director and Vice President of the Royal Bank, has been Assistant General Manager since 1933. He will continue to make his headquarters in Toronto.

James Muir, Assistant General Manager for the past ten years, who succeeds Mr. Dobson as General Manager of the bank.

Mr. Muir joined The Royal Bank at Moose Jaw in 1912 and after serving in various branches and in the Inspector's Department at Winnipeg, was transferred to Head Office in 1917. Later he was appointed Inspector in the Supervisor's Department, Winnipeg, and in 1925 went to the bank's New York Office where for three years he served as Assistant Supervisor of the bank's business in Central and South America. He returned to Canada in 1928 to become Manager of the Winnipeg Branch and was appointed Assistant General Manager in Montreal followed three years later.

Mr. Muir was appointed Assistant General Manager in 1935.

City Visitor
E. Officer, Canadian Pacific Railway, special passenger representative from the district passenger agent at Calgary is visiting Edmonton on matters of business in his department.

More than 2,000 spectators thrilled to the sparkle, charm, speed and daring of the acts in the New York Ice Fantasy which opened a six-day stand at the Edmonton arena Monday night.

THE SHOW, which has been playing to capacity audiences in the eastern United States and Canada, is sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association, and is an attraction of outstanding merit.

The audience was warned to the excellence of performers of stars and ensemble artists, and all items of the varied program were loudly applauded. Many of the artists were forced to give several encores to meet insistent plaudits.

The show has everything for success. Spectacular and skilful skating, an ensemble of beautiful girls, wonderful costumes and colorful settings combine to make every pleasing entertainment.

STAR OF THE SHOW is Arlene Le Vaillant, Swiss brunette, who is featured in a solo number, and also in two tango acts with Bruce Clark, male star, who was Sonia Lesue's ice partner for five years.

In her solo number Miss Le Vaillant displays all the repertoire of the fancy skater, and had to repeat three times before the crowd permitted her to retire. In the dance numbers with Mr. Clark both gave a magnificent exhibition of rhythm, grace and musical skill.

against Russia and she prudently lay as low as possible. Toward the end of a year, a beautiful blonde Russian spy employed by the NKVD parachuted down near her house. The parachute found her way to the house and Mrs. Wuolijoki put her up for the night. Next day the Finnish police arrived and arrested the Russian spy, who had come from Moscow with suggestions for arranging an armistice through the good offices of Mrs. Wuolijoki.

THE FINNS, however, did not arrest Mrs. Wuolijoki, who left the next morning for Stockholm, where she reported to the Russian government and had a long talk with Mrs. Kollari, the able and resourceful Soviet Minister to Sweden. These conversations, though a secret, have been the subject of much speculation between Russia and Finland and they ultimately led to the armistice concluded between the two countries.

Mrs. Wuolijoki returned the next day to Helsinki, where she was at once arrested and brought to trial as a traitorous spy. She was sentenced to death, but the sentence was merely kept in prison.

Meanwhile, to add the perfect musical-comedy touch to the situation, the Finnish secret officer charged with the arrest of the blonde parachutist fell in love with his prisoner and proposed marriage to her.

THE SITUATION, as complicated the situation, and in the upshot the life of the parachutist, the last of Mrs. Wuolijoki, was spared. When the Russians arrived, they "rescued" their beautiful agent, of whom nothing has since been heard.

MRS. WUOLIJOKI, on the other hand, emerged from her captivity and suspended death sentence to become Director of the Finnish Broadcasting Corporation, in which capacity she has been instrumental in good relations between Finland and Russia and also urges on the Finnish people to clamor for the condemnation of so-called "war criminals."

I had a long talk with her when she was in Helsinki recently. She must confess that I was shocked by her attitude. She talked more like a Russian than a Finn, and did not seem to wish to extend the same forbearance to political enemies as had been shown to herself.

I ALSO MET her daughter, who, paradoxically enough, is the wife of the president of the Bank of Finland. He, at the moment, is in the United States, trying to secure a loan of fifty million dollars for Finland, to enable them to get their feet on the ground.

ALSO AN OUTSTANDING item in the program was the work of Ken Wilkie, who recently served in the Canadian Army, and was mentioned in dispatches for bravery in action. He pairs with Eleanor Lanthier in a graceful waltz number which was greeted with sustained applause.

One of the most pleasing acts in the excellent card was the solo number, staged by Gloria Lahti, a mid-western United States skating champion. This petite skater captured the hearts of her audience by her graceful speed, rhythm and encores.

THE SHOW was skilfully balanced with humorous numbers including Ernie Abbott's comic drunk; Paul Lefebvre and Guy Lorpi who do a couple of amusing sailor items; Maurice Arago and a "Sparkplug" skit which drew gales of laughter from the crowd.

Officials Do Utmost

Red Tape is Cut to Minimum In Re-Establishing Veterans

The elimination of red tape, and the delays it so often occasions, is only one of the aims of the officials of the department of veterans' affairs, according to J. W. Proctor, district administrative officer for the department, when he proudly outlined the records officials of the re-establishment branch had achieved recently.

ON A MONDAY, he said, a veteran applied for re-establishment credits for the purchase of a hot water heater. On the same day the department obtained the important credit rating from Dan and Bradstreet of the business in question.

On Tuesday the district solicitor made the necessary legal inquiries as to the title of the property, and on Tuesday, too, the veterans' advisory board met and interviewed the applicant and looked over the information available about the business.

ON WEDNESDAY the seller received his money from the soldier's credit, and on Thursday the returned man took over his shop. "We can always do it that quickly," said Mr. Proctor, "but that is what we are aiming at in all our transactions with returned men."

At the same time he announced this particular case, the administrative officer gave statistical information as to accomplishments during November in getting returned soldiers back into a civilian groove.

At the end of the month 242 re-industries got out that they can pay their way independently to Russia. The politics of all defeated countries are difficult to understand, but those of Finland are even more inscrutable than those of other countries. I believe, however, that Finland will pull through her troubles. The Finns, though a small people, are very courageous. They are also civilized and humane, and the feeling of the country as a whole is opposed to the sort of witch-hunt and harem-hunting in which Mrs. Wuolijoki would like to indulge.

Mrs. Wuolijoki returned the next day to Helsinki, where she was at once arrested and brought to trial as a traitorous spy. She was sentenced to death, but the sentence was merely kept in prison.

Meanwhile, to add the perfect musical-comedy touch to the situation, the Finnish secret officer charged with the arrest of the blonde parachutist fell in love with his prisoner and proposed marriage to her.

their re-establishment credit, according to another set of figures produced, and these men had expended for new homes for furniture, or for business purposes, the sum of $100,000.

THE BREAKDOWN of the figures show that the largest amount and largest number of applications was under the heading of "turning over a new leaf." This category received $25,753 in November.

One hundred of the others received $12,000 for working capital and 12 more had applied for and received credits for the purchase of tools and equipment to the amount of $17,400.

Under the headings of national housing, purchases of home and modernization of homes, 148 men took advantage of the re-establishment credit scheme to the tune of $45,672.

Only one veteran made application for assistance in obtaining educational equipment, and he was assisted to the amount of $105.

THERE ARE 10,813 current accounts at the Edmonton office of the department of veterans' affairs like the re-establishment credit, and alone, and the amount of money available in these accounts is $3,242,375.

Re-establishment credits are available for women from the services as well, and full under the different listing. Twenty-two of the girls who once wore a uniform were aided during November, one of them receiving $10 in reimbursement of her home, while the other 21 spent $1,677 for furniture.

There was a sharp increase in the number of returned men registered for educational benefits while at the university, with the 47 who were in receipt of it at the end of October having been 800 by the end of last month. These men were on the campus during the month, but that many of those who were in receipt of it at the university had not registered until some time in November.

REGISTRATION students working for university entrance also showed an upward trend from 119 to 261 in the course of November, while the number of veterans taking vocational training leaped from 271 to 476 during the same period.

It was a fact that rehabilitation work was proceeding smoothly and that few hitches had arisen.

During November 538 veterans had applied for, and received,

THE sacrifice of our fighting men made it possible for Canadians to enjoy the privacy and safety of their homes. Now, thousands of young Canadians who made that sacrifice are unable to find accommodation for themselves and their families.

Ottawa Seeks $750,000,000 In Export Credit Plan Boost

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—(CP)—The government yesterday asked the Dominion banks to place a loan boosting export credits to the United Nations from $100,000,000 to $750,000,000.

FINANCE MINISTER LILLY described the plan as being designed to aid devoting countries to the rehabilitation of their economies and to provide a long-term basis for expanding Canadian trade.

The government previously had allotted $100,000,000 as export credit and the house devoted the attention to a discussion of a resolution which provided an additional $650,000,000 for export credit. The resolution passed and the bill was introduced and read.

MR. LILLY outlined plans for export credit loans totalling $650,000,000. The additional $650,000,000 was required to cover loans to Belgium, China and Russia, amounts of which had not yet been determined. Money also would be provided for loans which might be extended in the future.

Specific amounts which have been allowed to countries from the previous authority and the additional funds sought are:

France, $482,500,000; Netherlands, $85,000,000; Norway, $100,000,000; Netherlands East Indies, $65,000,000.

ALUMINUM has been allotted $25,000,000 which will be provided by an amount still to be determined and $25,000,000 for advanced Russia for the purchase of some hydro electric equipment.

MR. LILLY said in addition to making purchases in Canada under the loan countries would spend cash in the Dominion. It was suggested that one-fifth or one-sixth of the goods should be bought for cash and this would be added to Canada with foreign exchange for export.

CREDIT ARRANGEMENTS with the United Kingdom would be dealt with separately by special legislation to be presented at the next session of Parliament, said Mr. LILLY.

The United Kingdom is now in Washington in an effort to provide a new financial agreement with the United States which will allow the United States to export to Ottawa when the Washington conference are concluded and the loan then will start on the arrangements with Canada.

While the government was providing assistance through export credit, Canadian exporters against Russia there was an onus on manufacturers and other exporters to provide world competition conditions in assuring Canada a proper place in the export market.

EARLIER, PRIME MINISTER Mackenzie King announced that "important amendments" would be made to the government's Emergency Powers Bill.

The changes were designed to meet objections raised by the provinces at last week's meeting of the Dominion-provincial co-ordinating committee.

The bill, originally scheduled for yesterday was postponed until today to enable members to study the amended bill, which is more restrictive.

The bill provides for a peace proclamation effective Jan. 1, 1946.

THE COMMISSION also gave first reading to a bill providing increased payments to Alberta and Ontario in Dominion-provincial tax agreement.

Revisions of the payments result from an arrangement for Alberta to meet full interest charges on outstanding loans.

The proposal to make large appropriations for export credits brought from Ottawa, Mr. LILLY said that money could be spent on social services.

MR. LILLY said the export credit would be the form of a loan and were repayable.

Tom Reid (L-New Westminster) said that the government should be taken of the opportunity to have other countries reduce their tariffs.

He said that if they could not do so, they should be given a loan. Mr. LILLY said France had agreed to give Canada favored national treatment but it was considered impractical to enter into general trade discussions while arranging credits.

MR. LILLY said that in settling the issue Canada would have to accept more money into the country. In some cases it might be necessary to accept a small loss in countries with pay in that form.

MR. LILLY said Russia had

FINANCIAL RECONSTRUCTION, ACTION

Mental Changeover Important In Problems of Reconversion President Tells Shareholders

GEORGE W. SPINNEY STRESSES URGENCY OF ACTION AT BANK OF MONTREAL'S 12th ANNUAL MEETING

Montreal, Dec. 4.—Emphasizing the urgency of the social and economic problems of the transition period ushered in by the end of the war, George W. Spinney, C.M.G., president of the Bank of Montreal, told the shareholders at their 12th annual meeting yesterday that few countries can expect from the realm of planning to performance under such favorable conditions as Canada enjoys. One of the major readjustments demanded by the reconstruction period, he asserted, was a "changeover in our mental attitudes."

Contrasting the position of the Dominion with that of many other countries, the president observed that Canada had been spared the direct ravages and horrors of war within her own borders, her people had shared in its sorrows and heartaches.

"We have," he said, "a population which is intelligent, adaptable and not unduly physically by the strain of war. Our productive equipment has not been reduced to twofold wreckage. While our material resources have been somewhat taxed by abnormal wartime demands, by any reasonable standard of comparison we are richly endowed."

We have a long tradition of stable government within the framework of democracy. Our monetary system is sound and we have been spared the hardships and injustices of uncontrolled inflation. We live on the best of terms with our neighbors. Some of those natural order of things, are all too rare in the world as it is today. And when we look at the Continent of Europe and see such widespread destruction and dislocation, not only of the fabric of life but of the moral and spiritual confidence and confidence between man and man—when we consider the nature and extent of the physical and financial impact of the war upon the United Kingdom, can we avoid the conclusion that here on this North American continent, we Canadians live in a favored land?

"I do not seek to minimize the difficulties of our transition period, but I do suggest that our problems and the responsibilities are in the main those of a 'have nation,' in sharp contrast to the well-nigh appalling tasks which confront many of the 'have-nots.'"

Mental Attitudes Important.

Mr. Spinney told the meeting that "of all the requirements which we must accept for the production of a new order, the most important is the changeover in our mental attitudes."

He believed that this would be made more difficult by the fact that for many months there would be a need for wartime thinking in certain directions.

"To illustrate," he said, "it is quite possible that we may have to change our attitude about the use of money, or anything, more intense and more frequent with potential danger than any time during the years of actual conflict. In consequence, we must produce for useful consumption which we can use for ourselves."

Bank President Tells Meeting Some Controls Still Needed

Lending Facilities Of Bank Being Made Broad As Possible

The necessity for certain controls has not yet passed, Mr. Spinney, president of the Bank of Montreal, told the shareholders at their annual meeting yesterday. He said, however, that these restrictions which remain subject to the closest scrutiny in order to provide the widest possible opportunities for competitive and creative

"Let us not lose sight of the fact," he said, "that the economic picture is still a very complex one. It is not only the material world, but it is also the human world. We must have a better understanding of the human world, and I know of no better stimulus to this than the human world. We must have a better understanding of the human world, and I know of no better stimulus to this than the human world."

War Has Stressed Adaptability Of Canadian Banking System

B. C. GARDNER OUTLINES WAR ADJUSTMENTS FACILITATING PRODUCTION AND FINANCING

Says Bank Of Montreal Emerges From War In Strong Position To Meet Requirements Of Its Customers

Montreal, Dec. 4.—The war years recently ended have shown once again "the great adaptability of our banking system in changing conditions and changing needs," B. C. Gardner, general manager, said in his annual address to shareholders of the Bank of Montreal yesterday, adding that "it is evident that our business, like that of many other Canadian institutions, has changed in many respects during the past six years."

"Our services in facilitating governmental wartime functions and in the active encouragement of war savings and distribution of government securities, in financing and facilitating war production and in handling the great volume of banking transactions arising from war activity have been kept adjusted to the needs of our customers and in a broader sense to the national needs," Mr. Gardner added.

"We have emerged from the war in a strong position to meet the financial requirements of our customers in the reconstruction period and to supply a sound and progressive banking service to all sections of the community in the years ahead."

Mr. Gardner noted that the "pattern of general business activity is not an increasing degree because of government contracts, the leading function of the bank will take on increasing importance and scope."

Bank Services Increased.

The volume of banking transactions handled by the bank during the war years, Mr. Gardner said, was a record. It was a year of very high activity and employment had not been a very much reduced.

"While further expansion of economic activity must be expected in the reconstruction period, the complete, the immediate outlook is not so bright. Retail trade continues at very high levels, but the general business is not so bright. Retail trade continues at very high levels, but the general business is not so bright."

Mr. Gardner described the "reconstruction period" as a period of adjustment. He said that the bank's services would be adjusted to the needs of its customers.

New Zealand's Security Plan Declared National Success

Social security from the cradle to the grave had long since passed the experimental stage and is now a national success in the Dominion, according to a statement by Hon. David Wilson, New Zealand High Commissioner to Canada, to the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday in the Macdonald hotel.

IN COMPANY WITH his secretary, W. L. Middlemas, he is in Edmonton in the course of a Dominion-wide tour with the purpose of his visit being investigations of arrangements for the transportation back to New Zealand of brides of New Zealand soldiers. There were nearly 200 awaiting passage and he said he expected they would all be in New Zealand on or before the end of April. About the same number had already left, he said.

He said every person who is born in New Zealand, and who is not a foreigner, is under the system of government, and that in their development, social relations and social security "is a most wonderful success."

MR. WILSON STATED that in New Zealand social security was regarded as symptomatic of insufficiency in the basic needs of life and that if nations were to avoid another international involvement "from which no one is looking future presented today" they would have to work out a scheme providing for the basic needs of life.

He said that in other countries in the British Commonwealth Mr. Wilson said New Zealand had enjoyed freedom from invasion of labor unrest and strikes which were common in other parts of the Empire.

THE 48-HOUR, five-day work week is part of the law of New Zealand, and it is the only satisfaction to both employer and employee," he stated.

Legislation also made it compulsory for workers to have at least two weeks' paid vacation, and to pay for all statutory holidays, he said.

IN NEW ZEALAND there is apparently no fear of trade unions, and the government has no policy for every worker to be a member of the union of his trade.

Only exceptional cases are allowed on religious scruples, in which case the usual law for membership is largely without social security.

He said that for government membership in unions, was that there was no mistaking who were, and who were not, members when a question of arbitration over labor matters arose. The main point was that compulsory unionism assured bona fide labor representation with the backing of political parties.

He said that the only reason for the union was that there were few, if any, strikes in New Zealand, was the fact that the government asked for the union compulsory. When a dispute arose it was taken to the arbitration commission, which was composed of representatives of government, employers and employees. If the dispute was not taken to the arbitration commission, the government would take it to the Supreme Court, where the decision was final and represented the law of the land.

Among many features of New Zealand's social security legislation was that affecting the unemployed. Pre-arranged medical advice and attention as well as the cost of living during maternity were paid by the state, he said.

THE FIELD of education the commissioner said provision was made from kindergarten to university, according to the abilities of the student.

He said that the long list of social advancements all told to come were taxed five per cent and that the state would pay the balance. He went on to say that the state would pay the balance of the cost of the child for every child under the age of 16.
